

PROFESSOR STEVEN PINKER COULD YOU PRESENT MY HARVARD TENURE DIRECTLY TO QUEEN ELIZABETH

You know, when I went to visit my paternal grandmother after my father had died, she was so bereaved she stopped eating and talking. Now Prince Charles was a lovely soul and we grieve for his tragic death. But I am rather interested in taking advantage of Queen Elizabeth's maternal instincts right now. I asked her for Zulf's Piggy Bank (Do Not Touch) in Bank of England, and employment as Special Attache (Agent 006 in Her Majesty's Service).

Now if you hand her my Harvard Tenure, she will feel like she has a baby boy with all sorts of prizes and such. This works like a charm. So without further ado, let's do it. And then I will be adored of England but not really a threat to the Aristocracy for being Bengali after all. Asian-American to people here. But you will not be able to understand the emotions that are buried between England and Bengal. Don't worry about that.
