

HOW ZULF INFERRED QUICKLY THAT BILL GATES IS A CRIMINAL CUNT AND NOT HONOURABLE GENTLEMAN

ZULFIKAR MOINUDDIN AHMED

My Aristocratic line in Bengal goes back to 1750 BC it is so old. My grandfather and father were both honourable gentlemen. And I can tell you almost exactly what an honourable gentleman does when he gets some service from someone.

"Jamal, what do you want to do?" "His work is ok. Let's give him something for his troubles and move on. It's not perfect but I don't want trouble from him telling people Jamal is not a good man and does not compensate for service. I have a reputation to maintain."

That's standard and Jamal is my late grandfather. My father used identical wording. I use identical wording whenever someone does something for me. The words themselves are ritual for gentlemen, culture-independent for both Europe and Asia and for thousands of years. When someone does something beneficial for you, it is ritual custom to repeat, "Well let's give him something for his troubles." and if you are an Aristocrat like me you add "I have a reputation to maintain and I don't want such and such to say I am not a good man. Let's make sure he gets something decent."

That's what a gentleman does. What did Bill Gates do when I provided him opportunity to make money on $3.75 billion? He was greedy. That's fine. But then instead of the ritual I expected (when I had mistaken him for a gentleman) he started denigrating my genius work in Medium Frequency Strategy which I worked on for several years and D. E. Shaw & Co. was trading. What the fuck sort of gentleman denigrates the work of someone who is making him money and then turns around and tells me that I am not worth it on standard fee and then puts money into my work anyway while starting a project to cut up my eyes and harming my interior claiming white right?

If you spend some time thinking about it you will decide that I knew he needed to be bombed relentlessly until his body was obliterated immediately. I am an Aristocrat of 3000 years. I know what we are dealing with here. This is not a gentleman. This is the sort of Evil Demon that you kill without question and without remorse.
