

ZULFIKAR MOINUDDIN AHMED'S DIARY JULY 29 2021

I have a sense that Todd Gibbons is a good man, and he will come through with an allocation of $0.5 billion. My meta is in a dreadful state still as the vile criminal Bill Gates refuses to continue to sabotage my success. I am of course hopeful that things will change quickly. I fear that Darina will not stay with me if I do not manage to get my life together with a pad of my own and ordinary income in San Francisco. Obviously I am quite impatient for the allocation since I made a great case to Finance that Global Life Satisfaction is a good idea for them as for me. I started watching the Medici on Netflix. I will like it at some point. I cannot wait to have my own life again, as the mistreatment of my aunt is quite intolerable.

I feel heavy and do not feel that I will be able to accomplish all that needs to be accomplished for Global Life Satisfaction if people do not respond with allocation when I ask them. But this is the way things are; this is my Fate. I did not expect that a quarter of a century after graduation from Princeton this would be my fate, to be stranded in Allen Texas without anyone responding when I ask for a piddly $0.5 billion allocation for a project. It seems quite surreal.

But then I look at Hope and Optimism as one of keys of Life Satisfaction and take a rational stance that managers take their time to understand the potential and need some estimate of the risk of failure and changes of success. I am quite confident that I can succeed over time in establishing Global Life Satisfaction with effort. Now what I really hate – and I have seen it with Four-Sphere Theory – that I succeed and get not even a single acknowledgement of my success from anyone and the people just keep saying 'that is standard' with no clue that from start to finish Zulf conceived of a radical new path that exceeded Einstein and Schroedinger. In this case there is a grave danger that I will pitch Global Life Satisfaction and then suddenly everyone in Finance thinks that it is standard and Zulf has done to get all the things together and you have a bunch of bozos running around with trillions of earnings on my work and they all think it is 'standard' and not hard work of Zulf. That is the sort of thing that is truly obnoxious about America, that when people do Lilliputian effort it's their great work and when they take huge advances in various things with huge expenditure of effort by Zulf, it's standard while Zulf does not even get a goddam reply to any of his email.
