

BRIEF SUMMARY OF ASPECTS OF MY LIFE

ZULFIKAR MOINUDDIN AHMED

We moved to America in 1987 from Bengal. It was my mom's decision, and I along with my younger brother Feroze Alamgir Ahmed moved to New York. I began high school then. Then I went to Princeton, graduated in 1995. I was a Columbia Mathematics graduate student then took off a year to Lehman Brothers for Fixed Income Derivative Research. My girlfriend of the time was Natalia Brizuela, an Argentine-American Princeton classmate, and she and I lived near Columbia. Then I worked at some technology shops including Technology Solutions Company and also Robert Reich's startup Ecosystems Inc. I got married in 1996 and obtained my Permanent Residency in 1997. Natalia left me sometime in 1999. I moved to MIT to work with Dan Stroock and began a love affair with Sine Jensen, a Danish Mathematician. We moved back to New York in 2000 and I could not find a good job in Finance in New York. I was living with Sine in Harlem in 138th street off Broadway during 9/11, and she decided she wanted to return to Denmark. After some time I got a job at a Biotech in San Francisco and did well there for a few years. Then I returned to New York with VP Quant in New York in 2006 maybe, and then left Gresham to join Chris Thorpe's startup Babel sometime later and in 2008 had begun to work on my own ideas without taking a job at all. Then I was hobo and moved to Allen Texas for lodging and have been working independently on Physics, Finance, Psychology and now I see a great new opportunity in Global Life Satisfaction that I can accomplish and clearly it is what I was born to do.
