

WHAT ARE WHITE SUPREMACIST TENETS FOR NON-WHITE PEOPLE OF EARTH

ZULFIKAR MOINUDDIN AHMED

This is a note for non-white people around the world, not just in America, where latinos, Asians, and black people need to know this, but all non-whites in Asia, South America, Europe, and Africa. With experience with one of the worst white supremacist racial murderers for more than a year, I feel that it is appropriate to introduce all non-white people of the world to the major issues of beliefs of white supremacists, and also the ways in which you can protect yourself from their evil.

First of all, what is white? You see, 'white' is something specific. You should be clear that it is not simply people with pale skin. "White" is an American idea. It does not exist in Europe or Eastern Europe or Russia.

In America, the immigrants from Europe from 1492-2021, of various generations, are classified as 'white'. That is the first thing to understand. 'White' is uninteresting in Denmark; it is uninteresting in England, France, and Germany. Some people in America will say "People in England, Denmark, France, and Germany are white". What they mean by this is nothing that people in England, Denmark, France and Germany actually understand. This is the first important thing to understand about the American concept of white. It's not completely homebrew in America, but it is substantially just that.

Are American white people confused about themselves? In a way very much so. American society is not organic society of any tribe with thousands of years of history. It is a society of immigrants from Europe but also South America, Asia, Africa. So in order to understand 'white' you have to take a brief look at American history. America had broadly 284 years of colonial existence, from 1492-1776. Then America has been a Multi-Ethnic Classical Liberal Democratic Republic for 245 years, 1776-2021. You should have a rough idea of American history if you are non-white and want to have some solid understanding of what this 'white' issue is, and how it might affect your life positively or negatively regardless of where in world you live.

In the first period of 284 years of colonial existence, America was a British colony, and was ruled by English monarchy. The colonists came from England, Holland, France, Germany, and other parts of Europe. There was also Atlantic slave trading, and in America there was slavery from Africa.

The founders of the American independent nation were wise and noticed that there was a mishmash of people from all sorts of ethnicities in America and decided to produce a universalist political philosophy to accomodate the diversity. In 1776 there was no 'white identity' in America. Blacks were slaves, and Indians were not part of the nation. But the political philosophy was absolutely universalist. I am the only true American on Earth, so I am extremely familiar with the founders' political philosophy.

Date: December 13, 2021.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.—That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

There was a necessity for the universality in America that did not exist in Europe in 1776. The necessity stemmed from the fact that the actual people in the United States were ethnically heterogeneous. In other words, the founders were wise enough to realise that their new nation-formation effort would be destroyed from strife without universality because the immigrants had heterogeneous ethnicities and distinct origins and they would be included within the national boundaries. They thus decided that all English men and all Dutch men are 'created equal'. This is one of the greatest advances in human history in political philosophy. I was the first person in history to examine this technically and show that this is true for all human beings on Earth of all ethnicities. I used the fact that G_c , the genetic code in common, letter by letter, for all human beings past and present is around 99.9% of every human's genetic code. This implies that the differences among all the people of the world is constrained to lie within 0.1% of the genetic code, and therefore equality at conception is guaranteed. But the founders of America were not actually fully cognizant of their statement being absolute truth as clearly as I can show it to be with tools they did not possess.

So the truth is that black people and native Americans in America were also created equal. And so were all other people of Earth. That is the truth in hindsight because I am far more clear about the truth than people have been in America for the past 245 years. But I was not here 245 years ago and so they were confused, naturally.

1. THE TRUTH IS ALL PEOPLE OF ALL ETHNICITIES AROUND THE WORLD ARE CREATED EQUAL

This is my contribution, the firm clarity that all men are created equal is simply fundamental truth. The argument requires you to know that the variation of any two genetic codes between any two human beings, say g_1 and g_2 arbitrarily chosen from eight billion living human beings on Earth, will have genetic code in common G_c with a constant exact sequence of letters with the property that $G_c \subset g_1$ and $G_c \subset g_2$. This is a remarkable fact about human genetics that have been well-established in human genetics research in the past two decades. I won't go into the people who found this deep truth – I was not one of the pioneers in discovery myself. What I will do is apply this extremely strong fact to show easily the equality of all people at conception, so that all men are going to be created equal.

In order to see this, you need to understand that at conception, we are all just a fertilised egg with the new genetic code in the nucleus. We all look remarkably similar in this state. And so the variation is just 0.1% of the genetic code. Our properties are simple at this state. These fertilised eggs are exchangeable to such a strong degree that equality is guaranteed.

2. WHITE SUPREMACY IDEAS GIVEN STRONG FACT OF EQUALITY AT CREATION

White supremacy ideas are, in my account, a primitive set of false beliefs of people who are insufficiently enlightened about equality of all people at creation. They are superstitious primitive ideas that have some appeal to some part of Americans of European ancestry.

3. THE HISTORICAL CONTEXT OF THIS NOTE

I am writing this note on December 13 2021. At this moment in history of Earth, I am a non-white American. Let me give you a picture of myself so you can see my features and verify that I am not white.

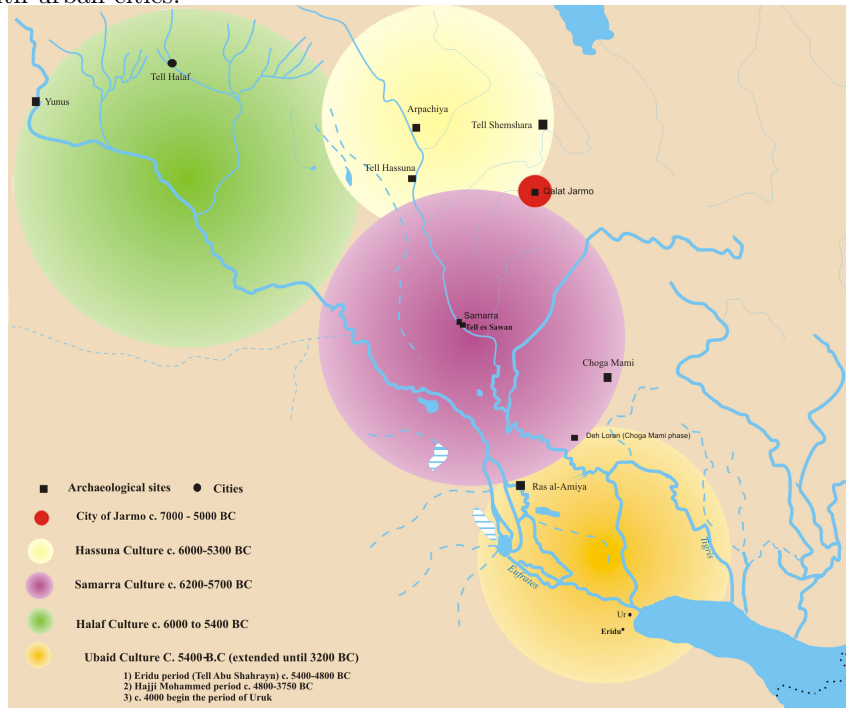

You can see that my skin tone is quite a bit darker than many people who are blond and blue-eyed. But I am American, and my life history, briefly is that I immigrated from Bengal to New York in 1987, and had assimilated to coastal multi-ethnic cosmopolitan urban culture of New York, Boston, and San Francisco. I was surrounded by highly educated intellectual professionals of all ethnicities and was quite blithely unaware of white supremacy ideas as they are not common among liberal professionals in coastal cosmopolitan cities.

It is then a matter of curiosity and wonder for me when after 34 years of being American I suddenly am accosted in power by a racial murderer, Bill Gates. I was surprised and so I decided to investigate some of these interesting and—for me quite exotic—issues.

4. WHAT SHOULD YOU DO WHEN A RANDOM CULTIST CALLS YOU A COCKROACH?

Before you get emotional about the insult when a white supremacist calls you a cockroach? You should pause. This is not easy if you've never encountered anyone in your life who has ever randomly called you a cockroach. I remember the first time I heard it I was a bit surprised. I was a Princetonian with many decades of experience with senior level positions in America. It happened on Facebook. Someone called me a cockroach. I felt that this was an outrageous insult and I felt that perhaps I should retaliate. But I am a calmer person and I thought about it.

I will tell you the conclusion I came from this. You see, non-white people invented Civilisation. The first great Civilisation on Earth was Sumeria and Mesopotamian Civilisation. These are non-white ancestors of present day Iraq and Syria, Kuwait, Iran, Turkey. The beginnings of Civilisation of Earth were long long before any existed in Europe. You should be very clear about this, that the people who invented Civilisation on Earth were not white and the beginnings were in 7000BC with urban cities.

There was no Civilisation in Europe at all until 1200BC when Myceneans arose. Let's see so that is 5800 years when non-white people in Asia were busy and hard at work inventing civilisation and all of Europe were foragers and hunter-gatherers.

What happens when some hunter-gatherer calls Mesopotamian Civilisation a 'cockroach'. It makes very little difference. So what? People who call other people 'cockroach' are not exactly sufficiently well-behaved to be considered part of civilisation at all. And often they are not; often some of these white supremacists are simply not part of civilised norms at all. So you should refrain from emotional reactions.

5. NEVER CALL ANYONE A COCKROACH AT ALL

Remember that we are the holders of the torch of Civilisation and so never call someone a cockroach. Don't do what I do, which is call Bill Gates a puny amoeba. Do what I say, and respect people's humanity whether non-white or white and don't call people cockroaches and such. It will make you look very uncouth and uncivilised. Keep your dignity and never call people cockroach or chimpanzee or gorilla unless you are provoked first. If someone does that to you and you don't enjoy heavy political combat, just block them immediately and keep them out of your life at all costs. They are not anyone to save. Ban them immediately at all costs from your life. They are hostile and dangerous. You are much more valuable to the world than they are, so preserve yourself and get rid of them immediately.

6. WAR SCENARIO ASIA VERSUS WEST

I advocate Europe to produce alliance with Asia for Eurasian Defense. However, this may or may not come to pass.

Let us quickly evaluate a hypothetical World War scenario between West and Asia including Russia to sharpen our feeling for aspects of global white supremacy. Here rather than individuals who are hateful toward non-whites I have in mind the ideology that whites must rule the world by military dominance.

Total GDP today of Asia is $38.6 trillion. Total GDP of Europe is $15.2 trillion and America $22.2 trillion. Our trusty calculator says all of West including North America has GDP $37.4.

In other words, Asian GDP is around $1.2 trillion more than Western GDP. Of course per capita, Western GDP is much higher, but that does not matter for issues of geopolitical dominance. Growth rate of Asia is roughly 5%; I am not going to go into fine tuning. For North America it is average 2.5% roughly, and for Europe 2.0% roughly. These numbers have noise and 2020 there was a contraction but those details will not matter for analysis here.

Suppose there were a World War between Asia and West for various unfortunate reasons, such as United States Government, which has a hidden part protected from democratic interference and having a habit of plotting aggressive wars in Asia from 1950, just begins a war because they are barbarian savages intent on genocide of all Asians, and they break all national and international law and as they did with September 11 2001, fool the world about Asian unexplained malevolence while Asians had nothing to do with whatever sabotage they use to begin their war. That, by the way, is what actually happened two decades ago in September 11 2001. There were no Asian hijackers of any planes. The whole thing was a sabotage to trigger war plans of American Government.

So what happens. The first rule of wars is that you will win in the end if you have more resources and money overall. It's not a hard and fast rule but it's reasonable. Asia has higher growth and higher GDP than the West, so the war will go on for a while and West has superior war technology and organisation at the moment, so West will damage Asia for a while.

Then what happens say 40 years later of war? Well, Asia will dominate the West. Why? You see, West, specifically the United States, is extremely barbaric, savage and genocidal. And they are very arrogant. They are horrible in frivolous destruction of non-white lives without any constraints. Asians have the resources to compete with war technology and have many more people. This will rally all 4.5

billion Asians eventually to fight the Western aggressors. And eventually Asia will dominate the West because West does not have sufficient population and the people who begin these wars are always lying to the Western Population to get them to support these aggressive wars. Western people do not have much enthusiasm for all giving up their ordinary lives to fight wars in Asia so they will not have the will to fight as initially the wars will be in Asia. Eventually Asia will be able to occupy all of West in such a war, and by the time the tide turns, Western People, used to having no invading forces occupying their lands will be overwhelmed.

This is really obvious to me.
