

AMERICAN HISTORY IN MY PERIOD 1987-2021

ZULFIKAR MOINUDDIN AHMED

For whatever reason the Second World War was the most poignant moment for American History in my mind at least. I have seen too many movies at least on television that in one way or another replayed some events of the Second World War. We became a global hegemon then. And I was affected enough that when I did one of my most important works, in Four-Sphere Theory with success in 2018, I had dedicated all of my work to the memory of victims of Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Today I am dealing with some extremely vile attacks, Crimes Against Humanity in fact according to Antonio Guterres the UN Secretary-General of Bill Gates, and I have written extensively about Natural Rights security that I demand from the United States Government. This sort of demand is also quite a bit influenced by the post-war World Order with creation of United Nations and adoption of Universal Declaration of Human Rights in 1948. Since the 1980s United States had been in wars in the Middle East. I have some vivid memories of some of our military involvement during 1987-1991 as I would come home from high school and watch some television in the basement apartment my mother had secured a couple of blocks away from my high school.

It was not a pleasant affluent living situation at all. My mother was not ever able to get the living situation to be affluent as her father had been able to provide. And right now, I have $120 million of my money illegally blockaded by Bill Gates, and I was hoping that I could provide her for some comfort before her death. I never worried at all about money unfortunately. And I am quite annoyed that United States of America has allowed the criminal Bill Gates to blockade my money at will as well.

I digress, however, our involvement in Middle East begins properly of course after September 11 2001, with the destruction of Twin Towers and attack on Pentagon. These were both the work of Israel's Mossad. That is the past two decades, and I can tell you that the entire history of America had been castrated for we went to war on false pretences for Muslims had nothing whatever to do with 9/11. I had written about this before of course, but I never thought about how we will recover real history when the false history has been signed and sealed for decades. It is quite strange of course to live in a moment of American History where history itself is faked, but I do not have experience of living in a different period and so have no context.
