

ZULF'S FEBRUARY 16 2022 2:29 PM WHAT IS THE VALUE OF M. H. ABRAMS TO UNIVERSAL WELL-BEING?

Examine a chimpanzee seriously and you will find an enormously sophisticated being. The behaviour of the chimpanzee is extremely sophisticated, so much so that in the 350 years that Science has existed, we have not gained sufficiently deep understanding of the chimpanzee at all. We are barely able to sequence the DNA of the chimpanzee. And we do not know the circumstances that led to the evolutionary adaptations of the chimpanzee at all. Our observational and linguistic faculties are weak to have a complete comprehension.

I will obviously have to admit that my training was in Mathematics, so biology was never a strength. But I have completed theoretical physics with my four-sphere theory and outrank the genius of Isaac Newton and Erwin Schroedinger and Paul Dirac and feel comfortable with it being the Final Theory of Physics, and so I turn to the questions of Human Nature seriously.

Chimpanzees are our cousins from around 8 million years ago. We, the human beings, have been building entire Civilisations starting in Asia for about six thousand years. We evolved in East Africa and dispersed throughout the world as the following graphic shows.

Before I talk about M. H. Abrams, let me tell you about what is valuable. I am interested in truth, about understanding that is valuable universally. It was immense intellectual effort that led me to the conclusion that the Human Race is Date: February 16, 2022.

(a) a single race and (b) that it is an angelic race, both of which are not well-known today in this primitive Age of Man. Indeed, I am slated for destruction by a primitive savage barbaric tribal criminal, this Bill Gates who holds ignorant and harmful false views about the truth of human beings when the government of my own country is too corrupt to address destructive harm to my person by this vile knave and born psychopathic charlatan.

But I am a great genius and a great man, and I shall move undaunted to loftier grounds regardless. One of the deepest mysteries of Science, of true knowledge, of course is to have deeper understanding of universal human nature. I have already established, by my toil and intellectual effort and my own genius that there is a universal human moral nature and have challenged the theories of human moral nature of Friedrich Nietzsche and Immanuel Kant. These people, who are quite bright, were strongly in error about human moral nature. They had erroneously repeated the errors of Socrates, which developed through the European Enlightenment period. They had found the fountain of human morality in the faculties of reason within man. This is deeply wrong. In fact human moral nature is the product of eight million years of evolution from the chimpanzee, and they are written in our genetic code in common or G_c that constitutes 99.9% of every human child born on Earth.

There exist universally valid propositions that hold true for all eight billion people, highly nontrivial truths, that remain to be discovered. This is the primary conviction that I hold and I have only begun to discover some of these in my work. I was hoping that Stanford University would give me tenured full professorship and arrange that I receive my $620 million being obstructed by this evil, vile, savage, barbaric, destructive Demon, this Bill Gates who had plotted a Dystopian World Order all his life, of enslavement and colonisation around the world, while people like me struggle to find a better world for all human beings.

Let me share with you a song. I will tell you more in a little while [3]. The refrain from the song is this: "And when we're dead let our voices carry on for a better song. To find a better song and sing along." The expression is attractive for most human beings because that is part of our human nature, that we are all moved to find ways to ensure that our collective future is better for all people, that we are individually more fulfilled, healthier and happier, and the entire human race is as well. That too is part of human evolution.

This is the context of my interest in Romanticism and its achievements in Europe between 1780-1830, as the particular emphases that the greatest poets and painters and thinkers of this era had seen some things, had understood some things whose universality for eight billion had not been explored, and whose truth remain to be clarified.

That truth, from my point of view, has to be correlated with G_c , the genetic code in common, for all human beings. It is to refine the universal nontrivial truths about human nature that is particularly interesting to me, for these will be able to give all human beings tools for more fulfilling inner and outer lives once they are cleared of their confusion. And that is one of my goals. I see great potential for M. H. Abrams and the analysis of Romantics and of the Modernists as well, for vast improvements for life on Earth for all human beings in a global scale.

1. WHITE RACE ETC. ARE MATTERS OF FASHION NOT TRUTH

It is well-understood today that around 80,000 years ago our—all human race—genetic heritage is from a single meta-tribe in Africa. I strongly deride people taking 'White Race' seriously. White people are not a different race than Black or Asian people at all. This is a matter of colourful fashion and nothing else. This is a Primitive Age of Man where these colourful fads and fashions are popular among some people but these have no substance. The research on this area has been quite decisive and the conclusion of non-existence of biological races within homo sapiens is established beyond any possibility of dislocation by efforts of vile, disgusting, brutal barbaric, savage criminals like Bill Gates.

During Bill Gates, the traitor to the nation, had used US War Power to harm my Body Meta, prohibited by Geneva Conventions even against Prisoners Of War, and I am an Asian-American with totally legitimate papers who was pursuing my American Dream. He used US Industrial Power to damage my exoskeleton in the middle of a Harvard tenure consider. That he is a brutal, savage, barbarian murderous criminal is not in any doubt by myself. Those able to consider this will verify easily.

2. RETURN TO M. H. ABRAMS

The main theme of The Mirror And The Lamp is a shift from reflection of Nature to expression from the individual interior projected to illuminate the world. The genius of M. H. Abrams is to articulate this as a major shift from pre-Romantic understanding of art from Plato to Enlightenment, and the signature disruption of the Romantics.

The particular details that M. H. Abrams provides are pioneering as his particular viewpoint illuminated a large body of works from visual arts to poetry.

Although I will be interested in particular elements that are illuminating in the works of M. H. Abrams, I have my own agenda generally with my life, and that is driving my interest in examining not just M. H. Abrams but all other interests of mine in literature and art and humanities, and that is that I am interested in self-understanding of my own soul as well as refinement of truths that are universally valid for all human beings. There is a goal here that is not implicit but explicit, that I wish to endow my beloved people with knowledge of truth that shall be transformative for future generations of all people of Earth. I believe that it is knowledge that allows people to have better lives, produce a better world, and allow people to lead more fruitful, fulfilling, satisfactory lives. Those who have greater access to deeper truths about their own souls and of the external world are better able to lead fulfilling, virtuous, happy, healthy lives than those without deeper truths. This is a principle that I enunciate on my own behalf and I do not really care too much about who before me had already pronounced this principle. But it is not an implicit principle. This is my conviction and it is therefore my intention to follow this principle by small rational steps.

3. A REVIEW OF MY WORK ON COMPLETE VIRTUES BEYOND ARISTOTLE AND AVICENNA

I will not go into tremendous detail here since I have covered these in previous short papers that are archived [4]. I don't bother with attempting to publish my work at the moment in various sorts of journals and just archive them in Github for public accessibility for several reasons. First, too many journals are expensive for people, and second, the journals are too specialised in minutiae and I have a broad set of scholarly interests. This might change, if I manage to survive the horrible harm done to me by Bill Gates which will physically kill me eventually unless there are efforts to mend my ethnic and health meta. I suspect that United States Government will be racially biased and will not do what it needs to do by US Declaration of Independence duties. They have done very little to in the past year as I have been brutally and savagely assaulted by this villain, knave, and scoundrel Bill Gates and I rationality suggests that they will allow him to kill me, for they are illegitimate and corrupt beyond all understanding of American public.

The key problem I resolved, with a great deal of empirical support are (a) Life Satisfaction of people are positively correlated with high moral values, and (b) The four most potent Character Strengths for Romantic Love are:

- Hope
- Gratitude
- Zest
- Love

These are very clear from the great work of [10]. This was discovered on November 21 2021, and these are the completion of Aristotle's Virtue-Eudaimonia Theory.

This work of mine is of transformative value to the entire human race, for they give all human beings autonomous ability to know the relative importance of various qualities that guarantee highest possible life satisfaction for themselves. These have previous to my work matters of conjecture and confusion, with constant attempts by various powers to intervene with nonsense. I provided clear solid knowledge for the entire human race about the universal factors that apply to all human beings without exception.

4. BILL GATES "PHILANTHROPY" WAS SNAKE-OIL SALESMANSHIP ALL ALONG

You see my paper History Of Romantic Love was a true philanthropic gift to the entire human race of monumental genius. Free of any financial cost, I had provided knowledge to my beloved people that is worth a great deal more than money. I have given them truth regarding the Virtues that will give them Life Satisfaction. This is great world-class philanthropy, done without wealth. Bill Gates had obstructed $620 million of my legitimate earnings in the United States using all manner of illegitimate over-reach for I am owed this money from Finance, and I have been a Finance professional from 1995. Bill Gates is totally idiotic, moronic, and ignorant about Finance, and his own stupid ignorant statements will prove so. I, on the other hand have worked at Lehman Brothers with Andrew Morton and Kaushik Amin, two highly regarded Finance Quants, and some of the best people in Wall Street. How dare this scrub get between myself and my legitimate earnings from D. E. Shaw & Co. and Madam Christine Lagarde of ECB?

I am a far greater philanthropist than this miserable, wretched, vile, worthless, deceptive scumbag Bill Gates will ever be able reach in a million years.

5. GOING AROUND M. H. ABRAMS

As is my habit, I will circle gently around the substantial ideas of M. H. Abrams a bit, meaning the ideas that were originated by M. H. Abrams himself and examine the substance of things he examined independently. For example, I consider his articulation of seven principles about poetry derived Wordsworth's Preface to Lyrical Ballads of 1798. (pp. 100–103 of [1]).

Before going on, let me tell you about some of my interests in recent years. I have been quite interested in the work on emotional foundations of personality distinctions in humans best articulated in the spectacular theory of Jaak Panksepp and Kenneth L. Davis [2]. I was already quite familiar with the Five Factor Model of Personality Traits for some years and had done some significant advances for personality types and verified thousands of personality types in human race. Panksepp's clarification of the seven subcortical systems for all emotions in human beings provided one of the strongest clear biological models for human emotions in history of Science, and that is articulated in Panksepp's Affective Neuroscience. It was quite obvious to me, therefore, that we ought to gain deeper insight into the nature of the universal human individual by return to the Romantics 1780-1830, since the artists from this period had been concerned about feelings and emotions from an artistic perspective without clarity about the neuroscience of emotions or even the existence of genetic code (DNA was discovered in 1953, the same year M. H. Abrams published The Mirror and the Lamp).

Thus we have an opportunity to revisit and re-examine the theories of Wordsworth and Coleridge with clearer understanding of emotions and this will allow us to have sharper understanding of what is universally valid for all human beings.

6. FINE BILL GATES WHY DON'T YOU SHOW YOUR INTELLECTUAL CALIBER?

Let us examine what I am doing.

What I am doing is attempting to interweave extremely modern knowledge of neuroscience of human emotions with discoveries of the Romantic Era 1780-1830 and attempt to understand how these are understood from study of M. H. Abrams, one of the great twentieth century scholars of Romanticism.

Does the college dropout charlatan Bill Gates have any idea of who these men are? M. H. Abrams and Jaak Panksepp? Does he know their work or their genius? Does he have any understanding of human emotions beyond glib talk and soundbites? How is he going to compete with myself if he does not know anything substantial about any of this? These are snapshots of the books I personally possess in my library. What happened to Billy Boy Gates' great for-show library? He has learned what in his fake reading of the books in the fancy Xanadu 2.0 library? "Whites are superior whites are superior"? You call this IQ 160 material seriously?

You see, my dear reader, I studied Literature seriously at Princeton University, although I was not as good as the best of Princeton scholars in literature, I graduated with 4.2 GPA in Mathematics and a magna cum laude in 1995 in Mathematics and married a humanities scholar for some years. My personal interest has been Romantic Era and Modernist poets and writers. I am thus able to detect talent and genius in humanities by lifelong interest in literary matters. Many scientific psychologists do not respect work in humanities because they are not sufficiently familiar with practice in Literature. They dismiss works in humanities as 'fluff'. I do not, but I am discerning regarding genius here. On the other hand many humanities scholars are dismissive towards scientific scholars are being concerned with very narrow issues without perspective. I am fortunate to be able to be able to see the best talent of both. And for this reason, I am quite interested in the theories and works of Romantic and Modernist periods in Europe as sources of insight about universal and scientifically valid truths about human nature for the purpose of a harmonious and brighter future for my beloved people the human race.

Now Bill Gates is a malevolent born psychopath, and he was a charlatan about every significant aspect of his life. He was never a great intellectual genius even in technology. He is a poser. He did exploit some people talented in coding but he is totally bereft of any college level education and is totally low and ignorant and uncultured and uncultivation who does not possess ordinary college education at all. He has bamboozled the American people and industry with glib rubbish pretending to be a great genius. He is no genius at all. As a matter of fact I have met hamburger flippers who are much more enlightened and intellectually more talented than this Bill Gates.
