

ZULF IS FASCINATED BY PROFESSOR EATON'S VIEW ABOUT MYSTICS OF BIJAPUR

ZULFIKAR MOINUDDIN AHMED

Dear Professor Eaton,

Be careful communicating with me. I am beset by enemies like United States Government White People backing Bill Gates and Bill Gates and am involved in geopolitics in ways that could get you quickly exterminated. I am also very public in ways that transgress current world norms. Regardless, I am fascinated by your accounts of Mystics of Bijapur. I did automatically develop the tendency, quite naturally of saying "these little nation states" with a dismissive hand movement but never any contemptuous expression on my face, to avoid the error of denigration thereby losing my aristocratic grace. I have this graphic for how to move the hand.

Then I move all four fingers up and down holding my arms to the side. In the expression the emphasis is on "nation" not on little. The overall effect is not to belittle the little nation states which would have political repercussions of an unsavory sort from some unenlightened populations, who, while unenlightened, could still burn me at the stake, and instead emphasise the disdain for nation as a concept.

Anyway, so I do thing that the insolence of this little nation state United States of America was quite intolerable, to show disrespect towards myself and refusing to secure my natural rights when the racial murderer Bill Gates cut up my eyes and obstructed my American Dream with all manner of absurdities, not even at the level of loftiness of the founders and United States Declaration of Independence.

It is quite pleasant to hear that there is some basis of it in Bengal since I was always much more well studied in English culture and influenced by Percy Bysshe Shelley and the English Romantics. Then of course the highest achievement of Thomas Stearns Eliot, who I believe did do good service by The Waste Land which was exceptional and I am grateful that he did not dedicate the poem to me by name. Those things are a bit awkward as that would hamper my progress.

Sincerely,
