

COPING WITH BILL GATES EXTREME ANTI-NONWHITE WAR

ZULFIKAR MOINUDDIN AHMED

First of all, Bill Gates was never a figure who caught much attention from me throughout life. I did not have much of an interest in becoming extremely successful with technology, which seems to be the sort of thing he sells. I don't actually know the man from a can of tomato soup. He's a nobody in my world really. My Ancestry is three millenia of Aristocracy from Indus Valley which was an urban Civilisation before Ancient Greece. Now I was not totally obsessed by this and considered myself a Western cultivated man of exceptionally high taste, a graduate of Princeton, with many great achievements in my life. I don't have money but I worked on some things. Now Bill Gates did everything to destroy me despite not knowing much about me. So obviously I want to ensure that I wipe him out from the face of the Earth now. And I don't even want to use too much effort doing that. He's not in my class. I am infinitely higher and superior to him in every possible way. He's a charlatan, a lowly man whose grandfather sold furniture, without any cultivation, no college education, with filthy disgusting prejudices which make him equivalent to one of these tribalist barbarians that I would not deign to talk to in actual life. I am infinitely more important for the Human Race than he is, not just for a single achievement of Four-Sphere Theory but because I have a great deal more planned for the future. I have heard all his plans of ensuring white people only succeed in America and so on. He's total worthless trash to me. These sorts of low views would not even be acceptable among the hobos of New York. Just worthless, disgusting, low. I have never had such feeling of physical icky disgust about anyone at all as much as this Bill Gates. What a worthless, horrible, abominable human being! I cannot even imagine a creepy old Nazi war criminal living in Argentina or wherever who is more disgusting than Bill Gates because even his 'white glory' seems provincial and shabby.

Now I have known white and non-white people who are great people, posh and cultivated, and Bill Gates would disgust every single one of them.

1. I AM EXTREMELY UNIMPRESSED WITH US DEFENSE AND US GOVERNMENT IN GENERAL REGARDING BILL GATES

I had trusted the United States Government to work as advertised. I was a good student in high school, John Adams High School in New York, near the Aqueduct in Queens. I was quite familiar with the purpose of United States Government from the US Declaration in High School. I assumed that with all the trillions of GDP in America, that the US Government officials actually followed the script. It said that US Government exists to secure Natural Rights, mine included. Bill Gates has been breaking every law of the Republic flagrantly, and has cut up my eyes, extorted Finance companies, has all sorts of racial agenda to prevent success of non-whites in America. What the fuck is the US Defense Department doing? Bill Gates has cut into my eyes crossed Death Penalty lines 20 times in the past year, and why is he still alive? Why do we Americans take our hard-earned income and pay your salaries so that you can watch over criminal cunts harming our Natural Rights while pretending that you are the legitimate authority of this country? Why do you exist exactly? Why are we paying your salary, so that you can coddle and suck dick to the criminal cunts with our hard earned money instead of securing our Natural Rights? You think you will avoid a bloodbath of the entire goddam United States Federal Bureaucracy this way? By pretending that these evil criminal cunts like Bill Gates are so important to the goddam United States Economy? You think you deserve to live?

Date: June 25, 2021.

The above paragraph is example of extremely high level Republic propaganda. Let me explain its elements. You see the use of curse words and vernacular, they are not arbitrary; they are expressions of convictions from the emotional centers, which are seven systems of the subcortical brain. The cursing represents a gritty experiential understanding of what is real and what is not real rather than merely cerebral understanding. Cerebral understanding and analysis is important and respectable but they require some principles to stand on in order to have any force; note my mention of US Declaration and purpose of government. Do not confuse this with fiction; I am not Tony Soprano the fictional mafia character. I can use similar cursing language to him but in fact I am Zulfikar Moinuddin Ahmed and I am not a mafia goon. I am a Princeton Mathematics graduate with extensive experience of life in America in all its ups and downs. Rather you should understand that HBO success of The Sopranos lies in the fiction that taps into these features of human beings where force of conviction and moral charge is expressed with cursing language. I am quite familiar with far higher level language of Percy Bysshe Shelley of Prometheus, far higher language of convictions as well, but these are not even resonant to the ordinary Americans as this much more mundane language of moral judgment. You see I am quite capable of using Promethean language but the gritty reality of the world is that it would seem alien to the American people because American Democracy is still very gritty. And yes this is threatening to the United States government officials because you have fucked up beyond all belief in allowing a criminal cunt like Bill Gates gain credibility and run amok pretending that the barbaric abominable malevolent criminal cunt is a gentleman. He was never any such thing and you don't look all that intelligent as administrators of a Multi-Ethnic Classical Liberal Democratic Republic when you actually try to convince me – Zulf – that you have it right and he is a reasonable businessman. Try that shit elsewhere. Zulf is not your fool, ok?

2. ZULF'S VISION FOR FUTURE OF AMERICA AND HUMAN RACE IS NOT BARBARIC AND DISGUSTINGLY LOW

Bill Gates is an agent of degeneration of American Civilisation and a Harbinger of Horror and Dystopia for the Human Race. I have a much more positive vision, and of course that is what this is all about. I consider the Human Race to be my Beloved People, and I have interest in well-being and Life Satisfaction improvement for 7.8 billion people. And the ancient heroic myths from Hellenistic Greece and other parts of the world are quite enlightening for a great and illustrious, Virtuous

Character like myself always has to face the Minotaur or some other Monster in order to succeed. In my case the Monster, Bill Gates appeared out of nowhere and quite suddenly when I was not quite ready and did not expect it. But as we all know from the myths, the great hero will slay the Monster and bring harmony and many gifts to his people regardless in the end. I was quite a fan of Joseph Campbell for a while, and do think that there is something deep about life's journey that is encoded in what he calls "The Monomyth". These are particular arrangements on things in your subjective life to understand the drama you are in. I had no interest in conflict with Bill Gates; he sought conflict with me, and so it goes. I wish things were easier, such as Bill Gates showing up outside the house, and I go outside with a baseball bat and pummel and fracture every bone on his body and leave him a bloody mess and be done with it. But unfortunately things are never actually that easy when dealing with living Monsters.

3. WHAT AM I GOING TO DO?

Well Bill Gates has successfully blockaded $120 million of my money from D. E. Shaw & Co. and he's deep in his White Supremacist War against non-whites. Now I have never actually dealt with a total racist cunt in my life before, but if you are racial, let me assure you that you look really bad to the other side, like low, filthy, abominable, disgusting, and whatever it is that gives you your racial pride or whatever, it seems barbaric and filthy and disgusting and uncivilised from the other side. Our Single Human Race side is far superior in Civilisation. Your side belongs with the tribes of Israel in Old Testament wiping each other out. We have the future not you. Bill Gates is a tragic little cunt; he will not be remembered for anything other than his horrible mistreatment of me which involves rotting my teeth, destroying my interior, cutting up my eyes, destroying my Family meta, destroying my Romantic meta, and much worse. These will be his memorable achievements and he will have a reputation quite a bit more barbaric and brutal than Atilla the Hun. If this is the sort of thing you want to do with your short life on Earth, then go ahead and be White Supremacist or whatever. If you actually want to be part of the future, you should not do those things. It's disgusting and low, not high and glorious, as Bill Gates might try to tell you. He's a pathological liar and total charlatan.

Now what I am doing is more interesting. The great problem of the moment is real Civilisation, Human Civilisation. We want to understand how 7.8 billion people can live in harmony with improvement to the Life Satisfaction in some uniform way. This is exceptionally challenging because precise sharp understanding of Personality is still not clear as Science. I am taking a bet that a clear deep understanding of Personality will allow us to improve Life Satisfaction across 7.8 billion. Now I am hoping that US Government kills Bill Gates so that I can take next steps. Personality is not easy at all. On one hand Big Five is easy in a formulaic way, but it's not easy to understand how to manage the actual complexity at all, at least in a precise enough form for applications to have substance. This is a great undertaking, not just a commercial one. We, collectively, simply do not have sharp clear understanding of Personality Psychology yet. We are getting better but progress has not been easy. It's not surprising. Biology is difficult to understand, and Human Personality is both latent and informed by exquisite genetic material with 250 million years of development. That's like trying to understand Linux Kernel development in 250 million years in the future. Believe me, this is much more sophisticated things than computer operating systems. Living systems are extremely sophisticated.