

ZULF'S FAITH AND STRANGE COINCIDENCE WITH DIABLO III STORY

My own faith is that before I was born on Earth, I had been an Archangel of Heaven for many millions of years. I have my reasons for my belief. These are issues of faith, of religion. Now what is quite interesting is that I was playing Diablo III and between Act I of the game and Act II there is a scene where Tyreal the Angel falls into the world after some conflict with another being. That's really interesting.

It took me quite a bit of time to understand that I am an Archangel Soul born in human flesh. Well I am a rational man and do consider coherence with other aspects such as human evolution from earlier less sophisticated primates as well. Well that's not a big problem for me, for I do not believe that any soul can live as human without the mechanical properties of the genetic heritage of the parents. My human capabilities are largely an effect of the human genetic material. The soul simply grows into the biological machinery so that even thought requires assistance of human genes and proteins.

In particular regardless of the history of my Soul, so long as I am human on Earth, my powers are quite restricted to human, all too human, abilities. But my perspective about the Human Race is a bit different. I wish to assist my beloved people the Human Race in several ways. I am dedicated now to raising Global Life Satisfaction. This is a worthy goal for myself, consistent with my desire not to be snubbed by the other Angels of Heaven after I perish here as human being.

1. ZULF'S VIEWS ABOUT YOUR FAITH

Look, I am an Archangel Soul. Your faith is really not my business, and I don't think about your faith all that much ok? I have plenty of things to do to understand my own faith. Why should I take away time to worry about your faith? Your faith is your business. United States of America considers it your right to practice your faith. If you are Christian or Muslim or Hindu or Buddhist, you have your complicated faith and you do it for your benefit, and I don't at the moment have any interest in them. They are your business. I don't care.
