

AMERICA'S MOST VALUABLE RESOURCE IS THE CHARACTER OF ITS MEN

ZULFIKAR MOINUDDIN AHMED

America has had great fortune in the 18th and 19th centuries because Classical Liberal Universal Principles and vast continent of resources and Second Industrial Revolution all worked in our favour, and we went all the way to Global Hegemonic Power in 1945. But we have a significant fatal problem that will destroy us in two centuries.

Our greatest actual resource are the Character and Aristocracy and Nobility of our men. Yes, men. Women's Character is also important but it is the Character of our Men that is most important for the future. And American Character is how good?

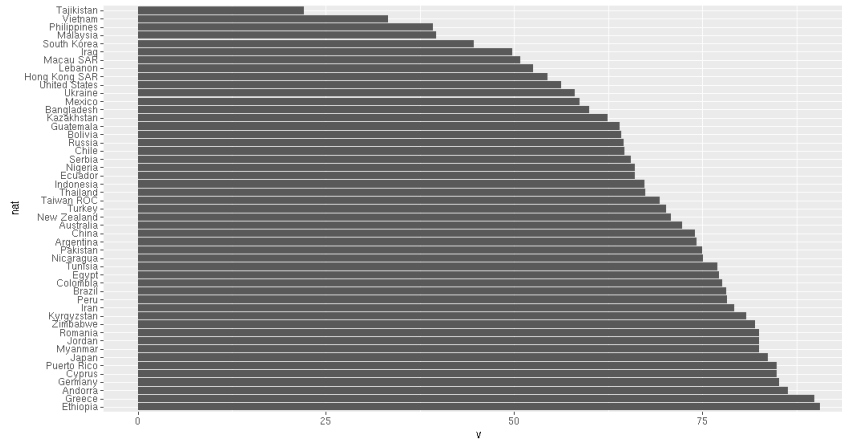

Let's look.

The most moral countries at the bottom and the least at the top. America is somewhere in the middle. That's stealing. We can look at some others for moral values. America is not exceptionally good in these, and the countries are not just advanced industrial countries but many developing nations as well.

1. VIOLENCE AGAINST OTHER PEOPLE

American morals allow violence against other people close to the bottom among nations.

2. BEATING WIFE

These are for beating one's wife is never justifiable. Interesting to note that many Muslim countries have much lower propensity for accepting this than America. And that is not surprising because much of the anti-Muslim propaganda was not based on measurements.
