

THE FATAL CRISIS OF THE AMERICAN REPUBLIC

ZULFIKAR MOINUDDIN AHMED

The American Republic is in its death throes. The American Republic is almost dead. The fatal crisis that afflicts the American Republic is so inane that it is undetectable. The US Declaration explicitly says "to secure these rights Governments are formed among Men". It's so clear than a third grader could not mistake it. It is so clear what the purpose of Governments are, to secure Natural Rights.

Now you go to all these millions of people working in the American Government, and you take a poll.

"Hey, you over there, you're an American Government Official?"

"Yeah."

"Why do you get paid?"

"We do so many big things. We're big. We're big and we fuck up all sorts of smaller Muslim countries. Yeah!!"

"I get that. I get that. I mean do you know what your purpose is?"

"What do you mean. Oh you mean seriously? Well the American Economy is in a dreadful state."

"I get you. I get you. But what is your purpose. Why do you get paid?"

"I'm very very senior. Very high up. I'm so high up the Empire State Building can't reach me. I look at the country from 30,000 meters."

"And what do you do?"

"Well I worry about the American Economy. I'm senior."

You see, they don't know a goddam thing. They take our money and they literally jerk off from 30,000 meters. Jerking off from 30,000 meters is not a real job ok? You need to secure American people's Natural Rights.

Jesus Christ, this is so depressing.
