

ZULF'S INSTRUCTIONS TO IMF ABOUT HOW TO PLAY THIS GAME WITH BILL GATES

ZULFIKAR MOINUDDIN AHMED

Dear IMF,

I see that Madam Christine Lagarde ordered you to assist in getting to my $620 million obstructed by Bill Gates. Now I will request that you make a group of a few people maybe six or seven and break up this task into 24/7 duty for about seven or eight months. This is a highly nontrivial task and you will need dedication so relax, get yourself comfortable, and ensure you have plenty of patience and rest. Don't over-exert yourself. This is not your ordinary mundane task but something quite extraordinary.

You see, Bill Gates is by far the most evil son of a bitch ever born to the human race. Words cannot exhaust how evil, how vile, how disgusting, how worthless, how low, how degenerate, and all the other words ever described in Biblical literature to describe the most heinous, most vile. To put things in context, the Deceiving Satan is squeaky clean saintly cat compared to him. I don't mean the noble anti-hero that was the beautiful creation of John Milton in Paradise Lost, who is magnificent and noble, but I mean the not as great Biblical Satan. He is so disgusting and vile, that there is nothing that human moral senses have ever actually encountered in the actual world that can compare. Once he is dissected, finally the world will have understanding of the sort of cat that Biblical people did not possess when they invented Satan just out of whimsy. He is the real slim shady that they did not have, so they invented Satan. He is a real Demon.

So take your time, relax, and enter into a new sort of game, one that is actually far more important than Finance. Don't tell your colleagues about this gig, because they might go green with envy and spontaneously explode at how they were not told about this and they had given such great service to Finance. Instead seem bored and say, well me, I'm really doing some errands, not really so important and central to Finance, not like the super important jobs you're doing, we're just peons, humble humble. That will keep you safer. This is one of the most exciting things ever if you want to explore the depths of depravity and heights of holiness deep within the human heart.

And it's no video game constrained only by the imagination of the game designer. It's totally real. So welcome to an extraordinary part of your life.

Now I want you to take a look at this not very good starcraft game [1]. I just lost the game but I made a bit of progress. I'm at this level, Very Hard AI, about 60-70% hit points. I lose here. The lower difficulties are not challenging. But this is hard. I don't care to tell you about the game itself.

Instead, I want to tell you about being comfortable at the level of mastery you feel comfortable with. Do not underestimate this Evil Demon Bill Gates. He is the most vile evil ever born. So his chatter 'really?' 'Bill wants this and that' as though he is an innocent babe is totally deceptive. He has perfected the outward glib charm while you will discover that what he does is beyond all human moral capability in evil.

And so you will discover evil. Now you're IMF and so you're not perhaps familiar with the interest in good and evil of European nineteenth century. If you want you can read Charles Baudelaire's The Flowers of Evil and then realise how Baudelaire was lost. There is nothing all that beautiful about evil itself. What is nice is pretend evil. That's kinky sexuality exciting things. But there is nothing sexy about the banality of evil, following Hannah Arendt, that Bill Gates will display. Always be Angelic. Don't be seduced by his evil. Just don't because then I'll have to kill you too unfortunately.

I am an Archangel of Heaven, and so be Good, and see Evil as something that's not you but something that is interesting to learn about. Don't try to think like Bill Gates. He's a Demon and your lovers will never talk to you again at all if you try to get too much into his psychology. Let Demons be Demons and don't guess.

Every day, do a few things, not too many. Just press a bit, and keep just at your edge. This is indeed war, and quite classical Good versus Evil. You will not feel comfortable with this if you're too evil or too lost in modern European mindset. Lose that habit. Good and Evil are parts of nature. Just deal with it. He is Evil and I am Good, and you won't get anywhere if you're not Good.

1. SPECIAL REQUEST TO IMF DIRECTOR

IMF Director would you be willing to bring on board two or three FBI agents who are experts on evil and Bill Gates? They are very cool people and discovered that Bill Gates was using thirteenth century – that's King Arthur Romance Era – forbidden European Black Magic. They could give some presentations and be productive members of the IMF team. It will be good for both sides on this special project. Like the Netflix series MindHunters. Be respectful to each other and don't try to hog the glory without sharing.

Good luck and may the Light be with you all.
