

SOURCES OF MY PRIDE AND SELF-ESTEEM

ZULFIKAR MOINUDDIN AHMED

The primary source of my self-esteem I would say is that I am fully committed to universal justice. I try to avoid dealing with people or organisations that do not measure up to my standards. I am 48 and don't really give a fuck any more about what 'opportunities' I might be missing by not dealing with organisations or people who are not to my exceedingly high standards of justice. Now I was fine with United States working hard to secure American Natural Rights for most of my life. I mean I know that American Government is imperfect, but I thought that it was making an honest effort to fulfill the demands of securing American Natural Rights by and large. But over the past year Bill Gates had cut into my eyes and destroyed my interior meta and done so many horrible and ugly things and US Government did not intervene to secure my Natural Rights adequately so I am at the moment quite unsatisfied with the sort of corruption in the US Government and am planning to take action to fix this in the future. We could abolish the US Government and get new Government that does a better job; we could slaughter the racial supremacists and other elements of corruption in the US Government and turn Potomac into a River of Blood. There are many possible things. Bill Gates has murdered many people using meta means (choking in sleep, cannot breathe etc.) and says Natural Rights are claptrap and wants all sorts of powers to kill more people and considers it his right to kill 'little guys' who are 'insolent'. These are grave criminal convictions that are anti-American and so horribly against the US system of laws that I am amazed that US Government has had good relations with this evil malevolent criminal man for the past four decades. I am most definitely not doing any business with US Government until they do a thorough reckoning of what they were doing with Bill Gates for the past four decades. Why was the US Government in friendly relations with a mass murderer instead of wiping him out with heavy bombing and obliterating him physically? I can't justify dealing with the US Government till they clean up shop and do reckoning and prove that they are indeed following the principles laid down in US Declaration and US Constitution. This is such a surprise, an unpleasant surprise, to suddenly find that all the paperwork I did to be on good side of US Laws was for nought and that these vile criminals like Bill Gates are considered more important to the US Government than myself, someone who is good and hard working and productive and respecting of US Laws. It is a great betrayal for me. All these American people who Bill Gates killed were irrelevant to the US Government. He just killed them, the US Government never secured their Natural Rights and with brazen shamelessness kept giving Bill Gates privileged VIP treatment. That is just too much for me. I had not even considered this could be a possibility for the past three decades. That's horrible. That's so horrible that I will just turn away from the horror of reality, of sudden realisation that things are not what they seemed, and things were very bad.

I have great plans for improvement of Life Satisfaction for my Beloved People the Human Race, of Global Individual Debt. You tell me, does Zulf really want to learn these betrayals of the American Government at this age? How does Zulf feel about this. This is just very bad. I have to immediately reduce my association with US Government and protect my sacred. That's just absolutely horrible. How could people let this happen. American Government is corrupted beyond belief! This is just devastating.
