

THE DEVELOPMENT TOWARDS MY GOOD AND EVIL WORLD ORDER PLAY

ZULFIKAR MOINUDDIN AHMED

1. SUMMARY

In the end it was a UN Security Council Death Penalty Judgment in meta that was the trigger for my Good and Evil World Order Play at the United Nations. How it developed seems a little sinuous, and I am still under a lot of pressure from Bill Gates Power at the moment so perhaps I will not get the sequence exactly correct. The story begins more than a year ago on Bill Gates intervening to stop me from receiving my just earning of $120 million from D. E. Shaw & Co. for my R& D and sale of my Medium Frequency Strategies. David E. Shaw liked my work and thought I was good and was willing to pay then, and still willing to pay the amount. Bill Gates intervened with a high power forbid and then in the intervening year he cut into my blood meta and in an unprecedented event in the history of the world, invaded my Deep Interior with heavy industrial power, war powers, and torture, conquest and slavery meta. After a long period of campaigning at UN by email, UN Security Council finally considered the harm to my Deep Interior and judged a death penalty against Bill Gates.

In same period, I had done a number of considers with the Catholic Pope Francis, who found that Bill Gates was thoroughly Evil. Now my faith is that I have been an Archangel in the Universe for billions of years before my arrival – i.e. physical conception – on Earth in 1973. I am therefore quite naturally attuned to Good. I had discovered by careful empirical work in the past years that Human Race is actually an Angelic Race.

All this then allowed me to make a Good and Evil geopolitical play at the United Nations. All this happened while I was stuck living in Allen Texas being starved of all income by Bill Gates.

2. RATIONALE FOR MY GOOD AND EVIL PLAY

There is a certain naturality between my own development and recent intellectual interests and my Good and Evil play. I was an Atheist from 1979, when I was six, and was not particularly interested in religious issues at all most of my life. I certainly was not Muslim after six, and at thirteen I moved to America and after that was more scientifically oriented. I was naturally a good moral person, since I have a long aristocratic lineage, and am quite conscious of being a reputable gentleman.

In the past two years I had been interested in the Human Moral Nature, and had been studying long evolutionary history, and my empirical results on Human Moral Nature came from discovery of certain distributional regularities for human moral values across the world.

Politically I was liberal say 1987-2003 and then Socialist, far left, in San Francisco, and then I broke with them and turned towards fundamental issues. I was quite fascinated when I learned of the truly marvelous work of a Japanese team who had found clear and beautiful scientific results on neural correlates of moral judgments [1] in 2008. My own results combined with theirs made it quite clear that the human race has strong evolutionary genetic basis for moral values. This conclusion is very strong, and refutes, for example Nietzsche's thesis in The Genealogy of Morals.

Of course when I am standing on such strong grounds as human moral nature is Angelic, and morals are coded deep in our genetic evolutionary history across the globe, I am willing to make a Good and Evil play on the global stage and not worry about weaker theories of politics. I am not intimidated by Bill Gates even though he has more money because I was a Finance professional. So this Good and Evil play is definitely both highly nontrivial and I believe is a winning play.

In the past US Government had not cared so much about Good and Evil plays but I think this is a perfect storm.

You see I want a Natural Rights Security World Order, where every person's Natural Rights are secured everywhere on Earth. I see the idea of pegging this world order by force i.e. by legal means, unless US Government kills Bill Gates as worthwhile.

The key driver here is that US Government has a lot of power, but will fail if they challenge genetic evolutionary characteristics of billions of people. The fact is that despite all manner of theories, all human beings are morally valenced and mostly Good oriented. US Government will face untold troubles if on a clear case of Good and Evil they choose Evil. Of course with resources and power they could try to smoothen over things, but I think this will be just too costly.

REFERENCES

- [1] Neural Correlates of Human Virtue Judgment Hidehiko Takahashi, Motoichiro Kato, Masato Matsuura, Michihiko Koeda, Noriaki Yahata, Tetsuya Suhara, Yoshiro Okubo Cerebral Cortex, Volume 18, Issue 8, August 2008, Pages 1886–1891