

THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT IS A PRODUCT THAT MUST BE REPLACED WHEN DEFECTIVE

I just found out from George F. Will that my point of view is not common on the issue of US Government being a product. To me this is obvious. I see United States Government in multiple ways, one of which is that it is a product. US Declaration says "Governments are formed among Men" for a purpose, and that purpose is to secure Natural Rights of people. Therefore United States Government and all governments, in this philosophy of John Locke and Thomas Jefferson, the philosophy that is apparently the canonical American Political Philosophy, can be seen as: Governments are artificial organisations or products which are advertised to do some tasks. They are like toasters, whose purpose is to make toasted bread in one or another way. They are like cars whose purpose is to provide transportation over paved roads and highways in a particular way. They are like any other products, like jumbo jets to provide air transport across countries. They are products and they advertise something.

They advertise that they will do a good job with securing Natural Rights of a population. The United States Government is thus a product whose specification is that it's an organisation that will secure everyone's Natural Rights.

When are Governments defective? Well obviously they are defective when they don't do a good job securing Natural Rights of people. And what ought we do when that happens? We ought to Abolish the Government and form a new Government that does the job better.

What seems to be confusing to a lot of people is that while the functions of government might seem to be large, in fact, in American Political Philosophy, everything other than securing Natural Rights is frivolous bells and whistles, and not important compared to securing Natural Rights of American people – and especially my Natural Rights. You see, if my Natural Rights are violated, US Government will have to be replaced because I will personally Abolish the whole goddam US Government if my Natural Rights are harmed. That's my duty to myself and that is my duty to the American people.

1. HOW AWFULLY DEFECTIVE THE US GOVERNMENT IS

Bill Gates is damaging my health enormously every day applying illegitimate US Military and US Industry and European Black magic and every other power. The cat got US Government's tongue. They are looking at the world incomprehendingly, their minds unable to grasp that they have to secure my Natural Rights.

We have all sorts of Military Bases in Sudan. We hear all sorts of bullshit about the grave dangers of Islamic militants. I feel like throttling every single son of a bitch in US Government. "You stupid stupid stupid fucks! Those Boko Haram or whoever guys don't even know where New York is on a goddam world map. How are they threatening our Natural Rights? Why are you expending huge amounts of our money and telling us lies about dangers of Islamist militants in Allen Texas when every day and night Bill Gates cuts into my interior and you look at the world like you can't understand what the fuck is going on?" Do you see a problem with the defective product here? Securing Natural Rights starts right here, in America, not pretending that you have everything so well worked out that the only dangers to Natural Rights of Americans are some dudes who think that their goddam village should be running according to Sura 44:11 or whatever. What the fuck do we care if the people think that's good or not. We have huge problems of out of control white supremacists plotting to sarin gas all the fucking nonwhites in the world. I don't want to hear your bullshit about grave dangers of Boko Haram in Chicago streets.
