TELLS YOU OF HOW I DISCOVERED SOME THINGS ABOUT BILL GATES NATURE

Bill Gates public presentation in television interviews and documentaries are totally fake. I have never met the man in person physically, and I am grateful to Heaven and all of Existence for this. This man is without question not only the worst, most disgusting, most vile, most savage, most beastly, most barbaric, most evil, most worthless, most miserable, and so on with 99 adjectives for horrible and bad that you can put here, but that is not how I learned about it.

You see, I was born in an aristocratic lineage of Bengal, and I am quite respectful and nice in America as I tend to socialise with urban professional intellectuals in America.

I encountered him in meta. I won't explain what that means to people who do not know about it; it is not direct physical engagement. The first thing I noticed about Bill Gates is his total lack of any ethics at all and I immediately realised he was not from a good family at all. You see, I can size up if anyone from Europe or Asia, or America is from a good, aristocratic and noble family or whether they are not. He is from a peasant-stock crass family. There was no doubt about that for me at all, because his habits of thought were too alien from what I know about gentlemen from aristocratic noble families from Asia or Europe. Gentlemen from good aristocratic families do not have natural instinct towards malevolence and criminality and lack of ethics at all. They tend to be extremely concerned with justice, with conscience, and with matters of cultivation and refinement. He showed his total lack of any sense for those things quickly.

For example, I had formed a company and he wanted to put someone else in charge of my company, and give credit for my work to someone else. These things would not even occur to any man from good breeding. He is a crass man from a peasant-stock family without any doubt.

I can go through other issues till my judgment quickly became lower and lower.

1. RENAME BILL GATES LIBRARY AT HARVARD

Do not rename anything at Harvard named after Bill Gates to my name please. Rename the Library named after Bill Gates to Human Race Natural Rights. That's a wiser decision. I am an immortal genius and do not want to be remembered by anything that is Bill Gates oriented. I proposed Natural Rights World Order at the United Nations. That's more my own original initiative.

2. WHEN DID I ENCOUNTER BILL GATES FIRST?

It might have been late 2019 when I first encountered Bill Gates. I only encountered him in meta. I never met him in person. He is not an ordinary racial hater. Those sorts of cats frankly are fairly harmless compared to Bill Gates. I found out by meta considers of United Nations Human Rights that he had premeditated plan to use power techniques to kill me. I reacted badly with public acrimony at first and did not realise immediately – and learned from various senior level US Government official considers that he is known to kill people by rotting people's flesh by meta power exercise. Eventually he revealed in meta to very high level US Government officials that he planned genocide for non-white people in America. So he is literally worse than the Nazi Generals who plotted the Holocaust.
