

ZULF RESOLUTION OF INTIMATE PARTNER VIOLENCE WORLDWIDE: HABITUATION OF ALL MEN TO MORAL VIRTUES

ZULFIKAR MOINUDDIN AHMED

With my vindication of Aristotle's Virtue-Eudaimonia theory, there is now certain knowledge that Moral Virtues correlate with Life Satisfaction, one of my great pioneering discoveries. Examining the issues of Intimate Partner Violence, then I have great confidence that it is the lack of habituation of Moral Virtues that are responsible for Intimate Partner Violence around the world at the average rate of 10% with disperion of 5.6% across all romantic relationships.

The important thing to understand is that superficial demographic variables are not going to help elucidate the problem at all. Aristotle is clear that it is habituation that produces higher moral virtues.

1. MORAL VIRTUES ARE NOT MATTERS OF SERMONS

Moral Virtues are habituation to practice of higher levels of virtue-oriented functioning and I have shown that the lead to higher Life Satisfaction. They require habituation and cannot be learned from books or sermons. Aristotle's Virtue-Eudaimonia theory is true, as I have shown.

In the end we want all men and all women on Earth to gain higher levels of moral virtue. But they are needed for prevention of intimate partner violence.

2. IMMEDIATE INVESTMENT OF $4 TRILLION FOR GLOBAL PROGRAM FOR HIGHER MORAL VIRTUES

I want the Central Banks and governments of the world to produce programs to cultivate Moral Virtues for all men immediately for $4 trillion with a plan to reduce intimate partner violence at a global scale to below 0.1% in around two decades.