

POSITIVE PSYCHOLOGY IS NOT AN OPTION BUT A NECESSITY FOR MYSELF

ZULFIKAR MOINUDDIN AHMED

My Four-Sphere Theory is spectacularly successful. Freeman Dyson was clear that I was just right and Four-Sphere Theory is true. Steven Weinberg was more careful and said it's good and he recommended tenure at Harvard but they could not get past Bill Gates' blockade because Bill Gates wants only white people to be tenured at Harvard. He is implementing his White Supremacist Dream. Harvard is not impressive in response. Bill Gates has denied me $120 million income that is legitimate from David E. Shaw and he is willing to give me the money only if he is protected from Bill Gates' retaliation which US Government has yet to offer. So a lot of things would seem to be going wrong. I am living in Allen Texas on small disability income and do not have acknowledgement of my Immortal Genius achievements in Physics, Finance, and so when I turn to Positive Psychology I do not feel that this is a passing interest but a Necessity of Fate. It seems natural to me, and since Bill Gates, the most criminal malevolent evil destructive cunt ever to have lived is involved, it is a proper choice. In a sense I am pleased by this, because the transition to Positive Psychology would seem strange given my background academically and professionally. But in fact I am much more naturally adept at Positive Psychology than most people of Earth. I have returned from walking amongst the lowest of the dead, hobos near Union Square, to overthrowing Albert Einstein, Erwin Schroedinger and challenging Michelson-Morley experiments' major findings of 1880s to be an immortal physics genius without a penny from Harvard or the Government all by my own efforts. Bill Gates is too puny to compete with me for I, to fold enchantment round their hearts, Have pools of light where beauty flames and dies, The placid mirrors of my luminous eyes.

1. GLOBAL LIFE SATISFACTION IS GREAT INVESTMENT

I am asking for $0.5 billion for my pioneering path to building up a new industry of Global Life Satisfaction that is Scientific and Statistical in Nature. I expect this industry to dwarf all of extant Technology Industry in the world by many orders of magnitude in the future. The reason is clear Life Satisfaction is important intrinsically for every human being, while whatever services provided by technology so far are incidental.

I am the right man to proceed with investment because I have sharp ideas about how to proceed as well as background in Finance, Science, and Technology. So invest with me.

There are Positive Psychologists who want to do something but they do not have a fine understanding of the technology to make it billions scale. There are technology folks who are too lost in intricacies of Mesos who dismiss Positive Psychology and neither of them will have my Finance talents or experience. I am universally best in the world for this task. Give me the allocation of $0.5 billion and don't waste your time. I am the canonically the best person in the world for this task.
