

ZULF TRIES TO SWEET TALK HUMAN RIGHTS WATCH LONDON TO HELP GET ME MY WORLD ORDER

ZULFIKAR MOINUDDIN AHMED

Dear Human Rights Watch London,

It's been so long. Fine fine, I've never actually met you in my life, but I sometimes say, "It's been so long" and so on to make people feel like they might have met me at a party and don't remember because they were probably drunk. I did frequent some pubs in London when I visited, so who knows?

Anyway, you are my favourite people these days, and that's because I want something from you. As you know, whenever I want something from people, they become my favourite people. It's mostly just empty rhetoric because you will be sorely disappointed when I don't even remember who you are when I don't need something from you.

Anyway, since you are such darling favourite people of mine, do you think you could get my World Order arranged for me? That would be fabulous.

I have some propaganda for it here.

I mean, I don't just want to use you without any care for your well-being, but I have great love for my beloved people the human race, which includes you by logical deduction, so I thought you could do Zulf this small tiny favour.

So can you do this quickly?

1. WELL YOU WON'T LEARN ABOUT ME FROM PRINCETON 1991-1995

You see, I was deeply internal, and was very busy with mathematics and literature. I liked for a while to wear a black American military jacket and wear a red bonzai silk print as a bandanna and kept longer hair then. So I was prominent in the Student Center and around campus but I was private in those days. But Date: December 17, 2021.

I do encourage you to find more about me. Perhaps you can talk to some of my professors. Let's see. Jeff McNeal was my thesis advisor. Caryl Emerson and Stanley Corngold were important professors. I even took courses on Chinese literature with all those many-volumed tomes that made Tolstoy's War And Peace seem like a short story. I was not interested in international relations or human rights in those days.

2. CORRECT I WAS PLANNING TO WORK ON GLOBAL LIFE SATISFACTION

I made a pitch to Christine Lagarde who is really a good person and authorised $500 million in the end as a gift to me to work on Positive Psychology-Technology company development in San Francisco. Bill Gates thought he could do a racial murder and obstructed my legitimate earnings with the help of the United States Government.

3. ROUGH HISTORY OF MY POLITICAL INVOLVEMENT

I became Atheist in 1979 at six, and gained, over time, a secular humanist liberal leaning political view that developed naturally between 1987 when I first moved from Bengal to New York to 1995 when I graduated from Princeton University. Then 1995-2002 I merged into yuppie intellectual liberal culture of urban cosmopolitan environment, and although I am not Jewish, I was probably influenced by Woody Allen's Manhattan and Annie Hall for my own sense of my culture. It was urban coastal American culture. My lovers had been white American, European, black American, and I was fine with a naturality to it. Things changed in San Francisco when I joined the International Socialist Organisation and turned further left. What drove that move was more personal. It was that I felt obligated by tug of Conscience, and I was horrified by the war deaths in Iraq. Then several years later I was unable to agree with tenets of Socialism, thought that individual was too weakened, and I turned inward, returning to my roots, English Romantics and especially Shelley. Then I was quite sure that Natural Rights World Order is not just possible but a necessity by 2008 but was not going to make a huge effort wasting my precious time left alive.

4. A NOTE OF GRATITUDE TO MY INTERNATIONAL SOCIALIST BROTHERS AND SISTERS

You see, the world is not what it seems. I learned from International Socialist Organisation some things about the inertia of things, that political organisations do not change by elementary prejudices one might have. I learned from them that Patience and Courage are both vital for even a tiny dent. And they saved my life. I would have died in November 4 2020 when Bill Gates did more harm to my eyes than English Queen's Royal Menders thought could be tolerated by any Bengali man. I removed all fears and engaged the world as I felt right, and those fears were not removed yesterday. They were removed two decades ago in San Francisco.

5. COMMENTS TO PEOPLE NOT IN HUMAN RIGHTS WATCH LONDON

Notice, if you will, the glib easy charm that is expressed in this note. This is not directed at ladies alone but to an organisation which includes many senior men and women. Notice the open and clear self-expression, the feeling of open trust in the various paragraphs.

This, ladies and gentlemen, is an example of polished political overture. Do not confuse it with the third rate politics of Washington politicians. I am from an Aristocratic family of three thousand years and for me the skill of political overture is far more refined than almost anyone had achieved in America, and even James Madison and Thomas Jefferson would have difficulty competing. Their political overtures you can dust off and see that they are not better at this than me. I won't tell you any guidelines. I am Noble and Virtuous, and so my political overtures are naturally extremely polished.

The refinement of political overture is always about who you actually are, and never about how you want to seem. Anyone who wants to seem is a third rate political operator. Nothing but total openness about who you are can ever truly be great political overture. Now West does have refined skills still here, but French Revolution decimated European nobility and so there is a dearth of understanding.

That's right. Be who you are and speak truly from your heart without intent to deceive and that is the key to great political overture. There is nothing more or less to it. Every attempt to be dishonest is a serious failure in political overture. Did you watch The Game Of Thrones about all manner of intrigues and treachery? Those are all failures in politics. They are good for Netflix series, but poor for actual politics in the world. Never betray. Never promise things that are impossible to deliver. Always speak the truth to your best ability, and never be menial and small spirited but be as generous. Have love for your people. If you do not love your people, do not get involved in the business of political overtures. You don't belong in political arena at all.

Sincerely,

Zulfikar Moinuddin Ahmed
