Dear Queen Elizabeth,

Give $150 million to Stanford Mathematics and Mathematical Physics and Statistics please from my recommendation. Stanford, this is not exactly free. I'll negotiate on behalf of English Universities. You will get this grant for England with the non-coercive understanding that you will be good to England's University Graduates and be friendly with Cambridge, Oxford and other English Universities. There won't be any official strings attached.

Queen Elizabeth can you ask Cambridge and Oxford and other English Universities to put in some sort of old antique artifacts and verbiage about the recognition of Stanford's Mathematics and eternal friendship between American Mathematical centers and English ones?

Don't skimp on the amount. It's worth a lot more than silly technology ventures.

Most sincerely,

Zulfikar Moinuddin Ahmed
