

ZULF PONDER THE TRUST OF BILL GATES

ZULFIKAR MOINUDDIN AHMED

In this note I will refuse to say unto you anything. It is clear to me that I ought to be careful with "I say unto you" because I do like to be jocular and lighthearted and muse and ponder some things without certainty at all, and those things I cannot say unto you. I do not want posterity to hold me for grave errors and distrust my serious exhortations to all human beings by erring my lighthearted musings with my 'I say unto you's.

Many years ago, still in Bengal, I was six or perhaps seven. My father, a government man, was posted to a district some distance from Dhaka, in Khulna. He had his apartment there in a two-storey brick building and next to the building was a green pond, with a lot of snakes and other living things in it. I was playing with my brother and some toy dropped next to the pond from the balcony. I went downstairs. I fell into the pond and sank. I did not know how to swim and I kept dipping and jumped to take a breath. I did that for some minutes quite helpless until a lady pulled me out. I never became a swimmer throughout my life.

This experience made it very clear to me that I should not trust that I can walk on water. It was very clear. Years later I read that Christ walked on water and I was amused, just very amused. I was sure that it was not true. I am quite simple in these things.

Anyway, I am musing here about something Bill Gates was counting on. So I hear in meta that Bill Gates was counting on total immunity to him from law enforcement by US Executive Branch because whites are superior if his crimes harm my Natural Rights. Now that to me is also quite amusing. All high schools require basic understanding of American Government, that we are a Multi-Ethnic Classical Liberal Democratic Republic, that US Declaration Preamble states that government's purpose is to secure Natural Rights, that it is criminal violation of American Law to violate an American's Natural Rights, that the US Executive Branch enforces laws.

Why would a 66 year old businessman in America literally count on US Executive Branch to fail to fulfill its purpose and give him immunity violating the foundational Constitution of the government? That would be quite equivalent to me counting on walking on water. That is quite a fantastic thing to count on. I say unto you that I have never walked on water and always sank.

1. BILL GATES SHOULD NOT HAVE INVADED MY INTERIOR WITH DESTRUCTIVE INTENT AT ALL

I am not exactly a tyrannical type at all and am extremely gentle and respectful with people, but I have always been extremely sophisticated and hard-core about matters of truth versus falsehoods. It's my nature to seek always truth and I have four decades of constant practice. I like to be certain that what I believe is truth.

I am extremely rigorous about this too, since I need to be sure, and I do the work too. In any case, it was a suicidal mistake for a charlatan con man who pretends that he is an intellectual genius and tells people Enlightenment Now is his favourite book of all time and I can see right through him and see that he does not even understand a single thing about the book because he believes that Natural Rights are claptrap. This sort of man will obviously get slaughtered to pieces and turned into twinkle dust by me. On matters of truth, I am so much superior to him that it is like Achilles fighting a special olympics handicapped boy on a wheelchair.
