BILL GATES

Bill Gates,

Who do you think you are? You are a peasant-born hick illiterate charlatan whose achievements are all hollow and menial. In fact my own achievements are ten times more important for the world than yours. What have you done? What do you know?

You are so illiterate and uncouth, without any cultivation and taste at all, that you literally think Hammurabi was white and you call the US Declaration of Independence Preamble "British claptrap" and do not have sufficient intellectual acumen to understand what natural rights are and have no inkling of the struggles in Europe that led to John Locke's original ideas that blossomed with Thomas Jefferson's expansion of them, and today 80% of the global population has convictions about natural rights security. You are so dimwitted and stupid that you think that white people's happiness is negatively correlated to nonwhite people's happiness and when I used English data to show that year-on-year changes in happiness has a 26% correlation for white and black English people you were unable to comprehend it. You are so unbelievably dull that you think that scientific theories are arbitrary. Most hamburger-flippers and pizza delivery boys are better than you in their ordinary intelligence. You are a charlatan whose SAT score was not 1590 and whose IQ was not 160 as you yourself propagated these lies. You carry around human feces in a jar in public, and you are unable to comply with laws that the entire world had adopted as norms of civilisation.

Do you really think you are even in the same league in genius as myself? You are an amoeba, a little nothing. You don't have what it takes, little shot-nosed Pinocchio.

Thank you,

Zulfikar Moinuddin Ahmed
