

THE SOURCE OF TRAGIC FALL AND EXTINCTION OF BILL GATES II

ZULFIKAR MOINUDDIN AHMED

Now let's look at a small part of the chessboard. Let's name them. Zulf is quite humble and let's say Zulf is the pawn. Why not? I'm the white pawn.

Bill Gates is say the black queen. Why not? It's a power piece.

Now let's introduce the lovely lady Janet Yellen on the board. She's let's say the white rook. Why not?

We pay attention to race here very carefully.

We introduce on the board the white knight and that's General Lloyd Austin.

So what's so interesting here? I am Bengali-Persian of Muslim origin but Atheist since 1979 and have my own religious beliefs which include considering Rainer Maria Rilke a Great Prophet and so on. A pawn with all sorts of complex story but pawn, fine.

Now white knight is General Austin. He's black.

Now here's the great thing here. Neither Janet Yellen (on US Treasury) or Lloyd Austin (on Defense) are actually able to be sympathetic to Bill Gates' glib assumptions about his privileges as a rich white man in America.

Austin, Yellen, and Zulf Ahmed will all agree that United States of America is a Multi-Ethnic Classical Liberal Democratic Republic and not some other sort of thing. We will also all agree that US Declaration says all people in the world have Natural Rights, inalienable etc. and Government exists to secure them.

That's pretty fortunate for white pawn, because we have two highly senior US Federal Government officials who have agreement with Zulf on something.

Bill Gates is in a little bit of a corner here. He does have black queen powers but he needs all sorts of people to believe that non-whites in America do not have Natural Rights security but how can Austin and Yellen possibly agree because they love their own natural rights protected.

Now if Bill Gates was more senior than them in US Government, he's find an easy way out. But this is one of the strange things of fate: he had murderously violated white pawn's Natural Rights and does not have full backing of Treasury and Defense in US Government.

Now Zulf is pawn and does not have any seniority and is not part of US Government. We white pawns have all sorts of grandiose ideas about how we are so much greater than all these little Nation States and so on. But that we can do only without any seniority in US Government, because if we served in US Government, all our various dismissive gestures towards all these little Nation States and so on would be unprofessional.

So these pieces are on the board. I won't place them and leave to the imagination of the reader where they go.

What is important is that in a different moment in history, Zulf might not have agreement with I don't know Harry Truman that Bill Gates ought to be held criminally accountable for cutting up my eyes and destroying my interior. Maybe even in the Kennedy Administration, Bill Gates could expect to be considered not criminally liable for abuse of power against an Americans' Natural Rights with cutting up eyes and claiming 'I'm big' is enough justification for murder of Zulf with power maneuvers. How about in the Nixon Administration. Maybe just the right intonation of "but he's not white" would end Zulf's expectation that the US Government will secure his Natural Rights and hold Bill Gates criminally responsible for misuse of power to murder and destroy Zulf's life.

But for some strange accident of fate we have two people who are unlikely to be moved by "but he's not white so I have white right to murder him". Instead, both Austin and Lloyd, being non-white Americans themselves, will be quite interested in establishing that non-white people cannot be murdered by power tricks by rich white malevolent men without Government holding them criminally responsible.

Does the ethnicity matter? I don't give a fuck personally. I will abolish the whole goddam United States Government if my Natural Rights are not secured by it. But it might matter because Austin and Lloyd are already senior inside US Government. So I might not actually have to abolish the US Government if this little chess game ends right.
