

ZULF OUTLINES A UNITED NATIONS RESOLUTION

ZULFIKAR MOINUDDIN AHMED

I won't provide the legalese here. I will just tell you what to do.

Create a formal organisation to investigate the methods used by United States to begin wars in Asia starting with Korean war, then Vietnam war, then September 11 2001. Thoroughly investigate how each of these involved deception and destruction of some American assets, assignment of blame to assorted Asian parties and then implementation of war plans that were classified in Washington before the apparent event that is causus belli.

You will find these are not easy to investigate. I'll tell you what happened in September 11 2001. There was no hijacking at all by anyone. The commercial planes all had remote control devices that were even externally visible in photographs. They were taken over by Israeli technology and Twin Towers were demolished by explosions. Then Bin Laden was blamed. This strategy of blaming random elements un-linked to Asian governments have to be stopped because it allows wars without any ability of Asia to investigate at all.

This would be equivalent to finding some douche bags in some inner city slum by an Asian power, blaming them for attacks on their nation and beginning wars in America.

Investigate every claim justifying any military action of the United States in a unified manner with an Asia bloc in the United States. United States strategies of starting wars is not new. Have experts in American history of starting wars on permanent staff.