

ZULF'S BLOWJOB THEORY OF LIFE

All heterosexual men love blowjobs. There are no exceptions. We love blowjobs because we are male primates and blowjobs are good for turning on all sorts of pleasure centers.

Now I will address the following point. Who are the heterosexual men getting blowjobs every day for 20 years from any woman at all? That is the interesting and subtle question.

I will claim that it is not the playboys with money and many sports cars who are getting blowjobs regularly. That is the myth. These guys get blowjobs sporadically and accidentally when they manage to wine and dine a woman they don't know and impress them. But they are not the ones getting blowjobs for 20 years. Those men do exist, but they are not the playboys.

Where did I come up with my theory. It's very simple. Women do not give blowjobs unless they are fulfilled and happy with their lives. They don't give blowjobs because of our male heterosexual desires. They give blowjobs because they want to show appreciation for their own self-interests being satisfied. Only a stupid adolescent boy is under the narcissistic delusion that women care about their sexual pleasure without any rhyme or reason. That is absurdly irrational.

So that is the essence of my Blowjob Theory of Life. There is no free lunch here just as in the Markets. You can only get regular blowjobs if you find some way to keep a woman happy and fulfilled, and I guarantee that playboys don't make it to the top here. The guys that do make it – and I am not one of them – might even seem boring to other men. In fact, it is guaranteed that they would because they don't like their happy life disrupted by jealous rivals. That's the word to the wise. And those men, their girls are super loyal. They are in love. That's why they stay with them.

Now ordinary jackass hetero men will always say, "What does she see in that fucking loser?" That is the sign of the immaturity of the boy. Instead they should say, this man is good and wise, and I will respect him because he knows something I do not.

1. WORDS FROM A GENTLEMAN

Never mistreat a lady by putting her in the situation of receiving scorn from the public. If a lady wants to pleasure you sexually by blowjobs or whatever, it is your responsibility to protect her public dignity. Do not go gabbing with the plebian automechanics about details of your sexual life. That will make the lady unhappy and no more blowjobs will be in the offing. Heed my words, men.