COMPARISON OF THEORIES OF BILL GATES' "TRIVIA"

ZULFIKAR MOINUDDIN AHMED

Bill Gates is a malevolent disgusting vile evil man whose qualities of character are so horrible that entire tomes would be necessary to explore their nuances.

We cannot cover those here. Here we will focus on a few theories about Bill Gates' habit of repeating 'trivia' nonstop about all sorts of things which are not sensible to anyone.

1. Primary Theory

Bill Gates is an Evil Demon Soul whose malevolent evil savage destructive nature is not driven by any intellectual sophistication; his brain is a parrot brain. He repeats 'trivia' nonstop because he is verbally challenged and does not mean anything at all except likes to repeat it. This I shall refer to as Evil Demon with Bird-Brain Theory

2. Alternative Theory: The Racial Trivia Theory

The racial trivia theory is a brand new theory developed just now, December 25 2021. It is the theory that Bill Gates uses the word 'trivia' based on whose work he is talking about. If the origin is a white man, it is not 'trivia'; if the origin is a non-white man it is 'trivia'.

The crucial test is when a non-white man discovers or works on something, but then gives it to a white man so he can put his name on it an publish it.

In this case, Bill Gates says it is not 'trivia' when the white man puts his name on it.

This is quite interesting. I do not know which of the theories is true. But in either case, neither of his use is what ordinary natural language use of the word 'trivia' is.